

Stor E Telling
Karen Chace © 2004
Storytelling Magazine January/February 2004

Echoes of Africa

Thinking of adding music to enhance your storytelling? Explore African musical instruments Listen to sound clips of the mbira, bolon, balafon and more.

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/aboutmusic/features/africa/>

Irish Studies

All things Irish; weddings, wakes, tales, music, song, Gaelic and more. Slainte!

<http://www.ncf.carleton.ca/~bj333/HomePage.home.html#Main>

The Kids Storytelling Club

Learn how to tell a story using an overhead projector and create a story combining fantasy and mystery. Apply for a free copy of their Junior Storyteller Newsletter, subscribe to their Junior Storyteller Activity Guide and order books to help guide parents, teachers and students in the art of storytelling.

<http://www.storycraft.com>

Star Lore of Native America

Tribal, regional and star information. A good starting point for background information.

<http://www.ac.wvu.edu/~skywise/legends.html#contents>

Telling Their Stories: Oral History of the Holocaust

Listen to six interviews with Holocaust survivors conducted by high school students.

Includes links to related sites.

<http://www.tellingstories.org/>

TimeSlips - Creative Storytelling Project

An innovative project using storytelling to deal with dementia; offering stories, resources and education links.

<http://www.timeslips.org/>

Good Stories for Great Holidays

A collection of 120 stories for seventeen holidays by Frances Jenkins Olcott.

<http://etext.lib.virginia.edu/toc/modeng/public/OlcGood.html>

Philippine Folktales

Folktales as well as information on the culture and history of the Philippine's.

<http://www.univie.ac.at/Voelkerkunde/apsis/aufi/folk/folktale.htm>

Storytell Listserv

A free forum offered by Texas Women's University for discussions about storytelling. A source of information on conferences, workshops and events as well as a place to ask questions about the origins and variations of stories.

<http://www.twu.edu/COPE/SLIS/STORYTELL.HTM?printerfriendly=on>

Storyteller.net

Sean Buvala has made it so easy to find a teller or event, hear a story, read terrific articles, and more. Come in and set a spell.

<http://www.storyteller.net/>

The Storytelling Resource Center

From "across the pond," a site with stories of pirates, boggarts, urban legends, Christmas tales and folktales.

<http://www.thestorytelling-resource-centre.com/>

SurLaLune Fairy Tales

Stories and the history behind the tales, cross cultural references, extensive individual bibliographies and modern interpretations. The SurLaLune pages are an incredible resource for storytellers, librarians and teachers.

<http://www.surlalunefairytales.com/>

Tales and Music

Richard Martin and Petra Koch make beautiful music together...along with telling stories! This duo, based in Germany, offer a wonderful array of stories and resources at their site.

<http://www.talesandmusic.de/>