

Storytelling
Karen Chace © 2005
Magazine January/February 2005

Aesop's Fables Online

Thousands of Aesop's Fables in five languages from the likes of Joseph Jacobs and William Caton, among others. You won't have to cry wolf to find what you need!

<http://www.mythfolklore.net/aesopica/>

American Folklore – Spooky Stories

Better late than never! Although Halloween has already passed us by, bookmark this site for next year. Eighteen spooky stories from around the country. Leave the lights on!

<http://www.americanfolklore.net/spooky-stories.html>

California Stories

Eureka! We've struck gold. Sponsored by the California Council for the Humanities, their mission is to "engage people across the state in a variety of story-based activities designed to address local issues and strengthen communities." The site offers links to local projects throughout the state, their Documentary Project Program, a newsletter and information on applying for grants.

<http://www.californiastories.org/>

The Center for Children's Books

Features collection development, storytelling, and programming resources, bibliographies, audio clips of storytelling events, and more.

<http://www.lis.uiuc.edu/%7Eccb/>

Curriculum-Specific Clip Art

Have you been searching for just the right artwork to pump up your brochures, spice up your marketing materials or add Wow! to your website? Well search no more. This site is chock full of fun, festive artwork, organized and categorized to compliment topics such as Art, Dance, History, Music, Math, Social Studies, etc. Just Click and Clip!

<http://www.gpschools.org/ci/ce/graphics/content.htm>

Myths and Legends Index

From King Arthur to saints and sinners, a fascinating collection of tales, myths, legends and folklore from the British Isles.

<http://www.britannia.com/history/h100.html>

National Underground Freedom Center

Located in Cincinnati, Ohio, the brand new Freedom Center is home to the nation's "newest monument of freedom." If you can't make the journey in person, stop by for a virtual tour and hear the stories of ten individuals who paved the way for freedom. A wealth of information for individuals and educators alike.

<http://www.freedomcenter.org/>

The Library Spot

A free virtual library resource center for educators, students, librarians, or anyone exploring the Web for research information.

<http://www.libraryspot.com/>

Robert Louis Stevenson: Fables

From the University of Wisconsin-Madison, 13 fables published in 1902.

<http://libtext.library.wisc.edu/StvnsnRobL/>

When Works Pass Into the Public Domain

An easy to understand chart to help answer the "public domain" question.

<http://www.unc.edu/~unc/ncg/public-d.htm>

Content compiled by Karen Chace, Professional Storyteller & Web Researcher

East Freetown MA 02727 • (508) 763-8565 • Info@StoryBug.net • www.StoryBug.net

Permission for private use is granted, Distribution of this material in any format (including via electronic means) is expressly prohibited without Karen's written permission.

Copyright ©2006 Karen Chace/StoryBug.net, unless otherwise indicated. All rights reserved.